Meet the latest addition to our Service Team.

Rowe Scientific Pty Ltd is pleased to announce that Matthew Cass has joined the Perth Service team.

Matthew brings to Rowe extensive experience in repairs of electronic and electro-mechanical equipment plus he has a BSc in Microbiology. Matthew can competently make repairs down to component level on most electronic circuit boards.

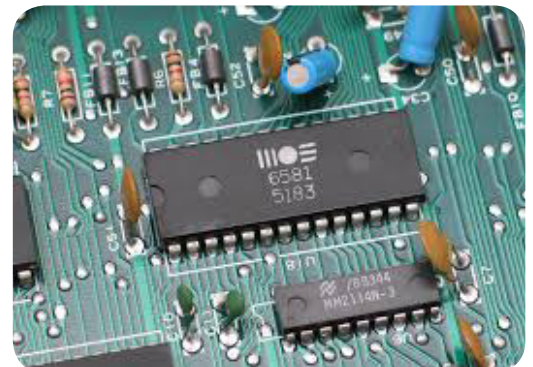

Recently we have inexpensively repaired circuit boards for a number of clients who were previously told that their board needed to be replaced or the instrument itself scrapped. This has resulted in $1000's of savings to them.

So now is the ideal opportunity for you to check in the back corners of your laboratory cupboards for that instrument that "couldn't be repaired" and send it to us.

We're so confident in our abilities that until November 30 the first instrument that you send to our workshop will be diagnosed and quoted for free.
